

[e1] If there were higher fines for leaving dog dirt on pavements, there would presumably be less dog dirt,

[e2] which in turn would result in generally clean pavements.

[e3] Higher fines may not be ideal, particularly for financially weaker individuals,

[e4] but cleaning up after their dogs does happen to be the obligation of the owners.

