

[e1] Supermarkets and shopping centres should be allowed to open any Sundays and holidays at their discretion.

[e2] For in this way, Sunday shopping days would be better spread out through the year.

[e3] Also streets and shops would presumably be emptier

[e4] as not everyone would be open on the same day.

[e5] However then you'd have a worse overview of which shop is open on a given day.
